Protection and promotion of environment and eco-system of Tiruvannamalai.

This project was implemented in 10 villages in Tiruvannamalai District. In each selected village, a separate forest protection committee was formed. Totally, there were 138 members in all 10 forest protection committees. Each forest protection committee consists of elected representative of PRI, women self help group members, youth club members, local farmers and nature conservation volunteers (Environmentalists). Capacity development training was given to forest protection committee members.

The project components included the following.

Awareness campaign was organized in 10 villages, covering the information dissemination on developing tree plantation, protection and development of Bio-diversity, causes of global warming and climate change, need for nature conservation, bio-diversity and environment security.

Nursery was developed at SINAM Development centre campus with the help of self-help group members and local volunteers.

Identified and selected sites for planting 1500 saplings in each village. The area for tree plantation covered individual land sites, water bodies, panchayat lands, village common lands, temple lands, village forest lands, village road side, Government extrovert lands, hill station land and agro forest land.

Sapling was distributed on 13.02.2023 in the presence of Government ICDS officials.

15000 (1500 x 10 villages) saplings were distributed to the community. 10000 leaflets / hand outs was prepared, printed and circulated on bio- diversity, conservation of nature and environment security.

The trained volunteers were actively involved in each village. Around 500 volunteers were involved in planting 15000 saplings in all 10 villages (50 volunteers x 30 saplings x 10 villages = 15000)

This project had a following impact

Village volunteers and forest protection committee members were trained.

Inventory was made with the long list of native endangered trees.

Planted trees for bio-diversity and nature conservation.

Promotion of safe environment and environment security.

Thanks to the grant issued by Sweet Grass Foundation, Georgia, U.S.A.

Programs for widows living with HIV/AIDS.

HIV / AIDS is a challenging sexually transmitted disease mostly affected to the marginalized groups/migrants . The increased number of HIV / AIDS in Tiruvannamalai district is directly associated with the heavy seasonal migration of people from different States and Countries. The cross cultural migration in the context of Girivalam, Deepam and pilgrimage to the famous Shiva temple in Tiruvannamalai may be the root cause for increased HIV/AIDS infection. In this connection, an awareness intervention programme was held at Government primary health centre, Tiruvannamalai on 21.04.2022. Totally 65 target people participated in the programme. The following people were the resource personnel of the day

1. Mr. Rama Perumal, Director, SINAM
2. Ms. Jestin Vidya, Project Manager Target Intervention
3. Mr. Kulandai Jesuraja, Counsellor,
4. Dr.Karpagam Medical Officer, Government Hospital. Tiruvannamalai
